MAY GIVE MONOPLANE

FLIGHTS AT CARNIVAL

In addition to the balloon races during the week of the Shan River, some monoplane flights may be given. As well, if the committee in charge of the carnival agrees to the necessary arrangements. Oliver J. Gedney, a representative of the American Aviation company, which controls the Newport monoplane, a French machine, was in this city yesterday, offering to sign a contract for flights during the carnival week. The company's prices are $1,000 for two flights daily for three days, and Gedney says that he will try to fly over Pikes Peak.

He is confident that his machine can make such a flight, saying that it is built for just such work. The company has offices and workshops in Paris, Chicago and Denver, and the Denver shops turned out the monoplane which Gedney uses in his flights. It weighs but 600 pounds, without the pilot, and has a wing spread of 28 feet. The width of the wings is seven feet, and they are tipped, at an angle of 67 degrees. The tail is inclined, and when the machine is in flight it looks like a huge bird. It uses a rotary motor, and is built for one or two passengers. The driver sits back of the wings, with the passenger's seat in front of him, just over the wings, so that his weight does not overbalance the monoplane.

Gedney said yesterday that there is really no danger in flying if the aeronaut is careful, taking plenty of space to his turns. He is a Colorado Springs boy, having previous to taking in the flying game, before coming to this city, yesterday, he was engaged in exhibition work in Wyoming.

"BULL MOOSE" SPECIAL EN ROUTE TO CHICAGO

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—The "Bull Moose Special," carrying about 100 delegates, friends and supporters of the National Progressive party, pulled out of the Grand Central station here at 4 o'clock this afternoon bound for the convention at Chicago. Other state delegates were to be picked up along the line by the New York Central and tomorrow a convention will be held in Buffalo to select four delegates-at-large and four alternates. Provisional State Chairman Hotchkiss was in an optimistic mood just before the train left.

"We will carry New York state and Mr. Roosevelt will be elected," he declared.

WILSON WILL GET COMMITTEE STARTED

SEA GIRT, N. J., Aug. 2.—Gov. Woodrow Wilson will take a hand tomorrow in getting the Democratic national campaign committee organized for action. He will leave here late tomorrow for New York, where he will meet National Chairman McComb and probably decide definitely on the appointment of a national treasurer, the chairman of the finance committee.

PROVISIONAL COMMITTEE

NATIONAL PROGRESSIVE

PARTY WILL MEET TODAY

CHICAGO, Aug. 2.—The provisional committee of the National Progressive party will meet tomorrow noon in the first formal session of its existence.

Delegate contests in Georgia, Mississippi and Florida will be decided by the committee, and final preparations will be made for the first national convention of the Progressive party, which convenes at noon Monday. The list of committeemen includes representatives from 45 states, of whom 12 were not included in the official Progressive call.

Among the committeemen are Dwight B. Heard, Arizona; Governor Hiram W. Johnson, California; Judge Ben R. Lindsey, Colorado; Joseph M. Dixon, Montana; Miguel A. Otero, New Mexico; and Cecil A. Lyon, Texas. Although there will be but 531 votes in the convention, it now seems probable there will be nearly twice that number of delegates. In many states a double delegation, each member with half a vote, has been named. All plans for tomorrow's Illinois state Progressive convention were completed late today. The convention will be called to order at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning. It is said a full state ticket will be nominated.

ACTION SUPREME COURT

PLEASES ROOSEVELT

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., Aug. 2.—"It was the only thing the supreme court could have done," said Colonel Roosevelt today, of the court's ruling which permits Roosevelt candidates for electors to have their names on the Republican primary ballots in Kansas.

The colonel said it concerned him little whether the Roosevelt electors went on the Republican or National Progressive ticket, but he expressed pleasure at the supreme court's finding.

AMERICAN GUNBOAT IS ORDERED TO NICARAGUA

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—Evidence of the growing anxiety of the administration in regard to the revolutionary movement in Nicaragua was shown today when orders were issued to the gunboat Tacoma, at Guantanamo, Cuba, to proceed forthwith to Bluefields, Nicaragua, on the Caribbean coast. She is due there next Monday, and will try to communicate with Managua to allow Minister Wetzel to keep the state department informed of developments. The gunboat Annapolis, on the west coast, has been getting only fragmentary advices from Managua. These have been sufficiently alarming to warrant sending another warship.

TRANSFER SUGAR

HEARING TO UTAH

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 2.—The government attorneys who have been conducting the hearing in this city in the suit brought against the American Sugar Refining company, under the Sherman antitrust law, left tonight for Salt Lake City, where they will begin the inquiry into the beet sugar branch of the industry on Monday morning. Assistant United States Attorney James R. Knapp of New York said that he and his associates would be in Utah only three days. From Salt Lake City the inquirers will proceed to Denver.

During the week of the hearing here the connection between the Western Sugar Refining company and the Havemeyer interests was exposed and the manner in which Havemeyer invaded the beet sugar field and brought the independent companies into the combine was explained by the testimony of several witnesses. Trade relations in the sugar business in the western field, and along the Missouri river also, were exposed. Both Knapp and G. H. Dorris, his associate, expressed themselves as satisfied with the developments in the local hearing. For reasons which the government attorneys did not disclose, John D. Spreckels, who is one of the defendants to the suit, and the head of the Western Sugar Refining company, was not called to the witness stand, although he was under subpoena.

ROSENTHAL SLAYERS

MAY BE ARRESTED AT ANY MINUTE, BELIEF

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—With "Whitely" Lewis and "Dago" Frank Cretell locked in the Tombs, as two of the four gunmen who murdered Herman Rosenthal, the gambler, July 16, police headquarters professed tonight to be expecting news at any moment of the capture of "Gyp the Blood," and "Lefty Louie," the two of the quartet still at large.

Lewis, who was arrested last night at a resort near Kingston, N. Y., refused to admit that he had any knowledge of the shooting, and said that on the day before the murder he went out of town to visit relatives. He was very vague as to where those relatives lived.

That the two gunmen still missing are in hiding in the region where Lewis was picked up was the belief expressed at headquarters tonight, and it was reported that detectives are hot on their trail.

ADAMSON REBUKES

SECRETARY STIMSON

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—War was declared today between the house of representatives and the war department on the question of granting individuals the right to take up water power sites, when Chairman Adamson of the house interstate commerce commission wrote a sharp letter to Secretary of War Stimson concerning the problem.

Mr. Stimson previously had written to Mr. Adamson protesting against an omnibus water power site measure reported favorably by his committee, in which were several bills that had been subject to attack. In answering the secretary, Mr. Adamson did not mince words.

"Your letter presents a singular admixture of correct statements along with well known, unwarranted conclusions and erroneous opinions of both law and the facts," he wrote.

Mr. Adamson said the government could not undertake to develop all the projects necessary to the advancement of the country and that private capital, with strict limitations, should be allowed to invest in that development.

Condemns Existing Law.

Mr. Adamson condemned the existing law, which prevented capital from undertaking water power development work.

In advocating a general relaxation of laws governing the situation, Mr. Adamson said that compensation scarcely could be asked from one whom at a cost of hundreds of thousands of dollars constructed a dam and locks across a navigable stream, and added to the comfort of the people and the good of the government. He said the secretary's idea that he could command such compensation was a "spion-idea" if the latter could find capitalists easy enough to be worked that way.

Mr. Adamson asked Secretary Stimson not to use his "powerful position" to prevent the passage of the omnibus bill. He closed by advising the secretary that the interstate commerce committee had undertaken a revision of the general dam law.

Federals' Victory Complete.

OJITOS, Chihuahua, Mex., Aug. 2, via Douglas, Ariz., Aug. 2.—The victory of the federals over the rebels in the battle of Ojitos and the fighting that followed has been complete. The rebels advancing from Casas Grande were confident of victory, thinking that only General Blanco was present.

They brought a phonograph with them to use for a dance and concert after the battle. The federals used it to furnish music for the wounded, however. The rebels were repulsed after a loss of several wounded and killed, the federals losing two killed and nine wounded.

General Blanco and Lieutenant Colonel Obregon with federal cavalry, followed the rebels as far as Cuervo ranch.

The rebels rallied eight times and attempted to make a stand, but each time they were forced to retreat and each time they lost some of their artillery. The federals claim to have captured five field guns, one heavy siege gun, several caissons and a large quantity of ammunition. They also claim to have taken three wagonloads of provisions and numerous horses and saddles.

The rebels made the attack at night with Colonel Castillo in command. Colonel Herrera and Major Chavez commanded the rebels' center with the artillery. Colonel Escobedo and Major Casares commanded the rebel left. The federal artillery fire was extremely effective and is said to have dismounted some of the rebel guns.

Captain Ruiz and Captain Velasco commanded the federal front and bore the brunt of the attack. Colonel Rivera had the right wing, in command of Sonora volunteers, and Major Alvarado had the left wing with Yaquis. Colonel Rivera was shot through the arm but continued the battle.

"NOT GUILTY," SAYS JURY OF MRS. GRACE

ATLANTA, Ga., Aug. 2.—Mrs. Daisy Opie Grace was declared not guilty of trying to kill her husband by a jury here at 5 o'clock this evening.

Mrs. Grace, wealthy and well known in her former home in Philadelphia and here, was on the verge of collapse when the jury filed into the court room.

When the verdict was announced she simply bowed her head.

A few minutes after she had been freed, she was handed a telegram announcing her husband's death in Philadelphia, and it is understood she will leave for his bedside at once.

Immediately after the verdict was given women struggled frantically to reach the place where Mrs. Grace sat only to be forced back by officers. The jury remained in their places even after they had been discharged. A full minute elapsed, and then Mrs. Grace arose and was assisted to the jury box. For the first time she showed a sign of animation, as she grasped the hand of each of the 12 men.

Grace was found in bed at his home here the morning of March 5, last, shot in the side. The bullet lodged against the spinal cord, and since he has been paralyzed from his waist down. He charged that his wife drugged and shot him, intending to kill him to get $25,000 life insurance. Mrs. Grace says Grace shot himself in a struggle with her over the possession of the revolver, after he had threatened to kill her.

Mrs. Grace at first maintained she knew nothing of the shooting. Yesterday she was placed on the witness stand and told the story of the scuffle, adding that Grace had threatened to kill her several times.

NEWMAN, Ga., Aug. 2.—"In her heart she knows she is guilty," declared Eugene H. Grace at his home here this afternoon, when informed that his wife had just been acquitted of the charge of shooting him.

It is bad enough to lie here helpless, even if I had been shot in a good cause, but it is almost unbearable when I have been shot in cold blood."

Additional dues or expense upon any local council, this great sum of money has been raised, and the Knights of Columbus are now in a position to erect a memorial to the Catholic men of the nation to the establishment of an institution of learning designed to be worthy of the name it bears.

The erection of the Columbus memorial is claimed by the Knights of Columbus to be due largely to their influence and direction. For years it has been noted that the national capital did not contain a memorial to the man who discovered the new world and it remained for the order which bore his name to have the matter so successfully presented to the national lawmakers that a bill was finally introduced making an appropriation of $100,000 for the purpose. This bill was signed on March 4, 1907, by President Roosevelt and in a case in the Knights of Columbus hall in Washington are preserved as souvenirs the four pens used by President Roosevelt, the president of the senate, the speaker of the house of representatives and the clerk whose signatures were affixed to the document. At the unveiling ceremonies which took place on June 8, over 20,000 knights were in attendance including more than 4,000 knights of the Fourth degree.

The activities of the knights are varied to suit the needs of the locations of the different councils. In Philadelphia, for example, the late Archbishop Ryan, who was an enthusiastic knight, was especially interested in the destitute condition of the poor Italians brought to that city each year in such large numbers. He influenced the Knights of Columbus to give special attention to their needs and the proceeds of a grand ball held by the Knights of Columbus in that city each year go to the aid of the immigrant Italians who frequently suffer from lack of food and shelter.

While the order of the Knights of Columbus does not pay sick benefits, each council has its own sick committee to look after members who are sick and supply any aid that may arise. The insurance plan of the order has been pronounced the finest system of fraternal insurance in the world, having a graduated system of payments that puts its benefits within reach of the moderate wage earner. It had in force on June 12, 1912, insurance to the amount of $93,897,000. It has paid $5,803,206.62 in death claims and has assets amounting to $4,000,431.59.

While the weekly or monthly councils are secret and only open to members, they are usually followed by open programs of literary and musical numbers to which visitors are invited. In many towns the Knights of Columbus hall serves as a sort of men's club house at which debating societies and numerous other entertainments are frequently held. In some councils active missionary work is done with the idea of educating the public regarding the doctrines of faith. In several cities the Knights of Columbus have rented a theater for a week in which prominent Catholic clergymen calculated to bring about a better comprehension of the tenets of the church and also of general church history.

Collier's Weekly Recognizes Value of Colorado Crops

That Colorado is coming rapidly to the fore as an agricultural state, and that this industry, as well as the mining industry, is one of the firmly established factors of its prosperity, is recognized by authorities in the east. The current issue of Collier's Weekly has the following to say in its editorial columns on the crops of Colorado: "Colorado sold more apples in 1911 than Oregon, Washington, Utah, New Mexico, Wyoming and Idaho combined. The Jonathan is the best of Colorado's apple crop. Colorado also raises good crops of peaches, strawberries and raspberries. Its Rocky Ford cantaloupe is known wherever cantaloupes are known. Colorado's orchard growth is almost exclusively on the western slope of the Rocky mountains. Alfalfa can be raised wherever irrigation is possible. Alfalfa is not only a valuable crop, which today sells for five times the prices of a few years ago, but it puts the land back in excellent condition for crops which exhaust the soil otherwise. The Goshute potato—a Colorado crop—has a high reputation, and is sold in states which are themselves heavy producers of potatoes. Under especially favorable conditions the Colorado farmer can make 25 per cent annually on the valuation of his land; the average middle west farmer is very often content with a profit of 5 per cent. There is constant sunshine during the growing season in Colorado. The orchardist thus gets a color in his fruit that the eastern farmer cannot get. The fruit growers of the west insist upon uniform methods of packing, which also enhances the reputation of western fruit on the market. The farmer of the east and middle west can learn much from the modern methods of the men who, for one reason or another, have gone to the far west and started over again. Environment makes modern methods almost compulsory. A fresh start often means new life."

What the Press Agents Say

THE PRINCE CHAP

A play that is recognized as among the most beautiful, interesting and artistic of recent years is "The Prince Chap," written by the talented young author, Edward Pepee, and memorable for its long run in New York city with Cyril Scott and Justina Wayne as casters. While the piece was being played in New York city, a well-known minister witnessed a performance. He took occasion afterward to say from his pulpit that a truer, greater or more ennobling and uplifting sermon had never been preached to mankind.

NOTES FROM THE BURNS

Your last call today.
This afternoon or tonight.
You'll have regrets if you remain away.
Patrons who come late cheat themselves and annoy others.
The doors open this afternoon at 1:15 sharp; the entire balcony only 25 cents.
There are good seats yet to be had for today's matinee, but you must not delay.
This afternoon or tonight you may witness "Forty-Five Minutes" From Broadway at about one-third of what you would pay in the regular way.
Our word for it, "The Prince Chap" will give you more real, wholesome happiness than any other play you ever saw.

There may be, perhaps, other and better musical comedies than George Colman's "Forty-Five Minutes," but we do not know of a single one.

It doesn't surprise us that reservations for "The Prince Chap" are coming in by the score today for there isn't a superior play in existence and playgoers are aware of this fact.

It required several hundred dollars additional to produce this week's attraction, but the returns have been remarkable. Hundreds of people have attended, twice, and many three times. Mothers there will be two matinee performances of "The Prince Chap" and every child in Colorado Springs should witness and enjoy this delightful stage story.

Just so sure as two and two make four, the best plan of making sure of seats for the matinee performances of "The Prince Chap" next week is to place your order early.

Malcolm Duncan will be seen at an early date in his pet play, "A Gilded Fool." What theatergoer but who can imagine him in the role which served Nat Goodwin with his greatest character.

Advertising may be ever so clever, but unless the article possesses distinctive merit, the result would be unsatisfactory to all concerned. There is no question of The Burns productions being worthy your hearty support.

In our present musical comedy, there are singing numbers by Eugene De Belle, André Alden, Richard Carlisle.

"BUSTER BROWN AND TIGER"

The real live "Buster Brown and Tiger" will be in Colorado Springs Monday. They will give a free entertainment to parents and children at Whit-Shoe Co. Monday at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, and there will be lots of fun for all, a grand reception and souvenirs for the children.

HUMORS IN THE BLOOD

Humors get into the blood usually because of an inactive condition of the system. Those members whose duty it is to expel all refuse matter do not properly perform their work, and an unhealthy accumulation is absorbed into the blood. Then instead of performing its natural function of nourishing the skin the circulation irritates it because of its impure condition. Although cleansing of the blood is the only cure for skin disease, external applications can only give temporary relief. S. S. S. goes into the circulation and drives all humors from the blood, and in this way makes a permanent and complete cure in every form of skin trouble. S. S. S. supplies the blood with the nutritive qualities necessary to sustain the skin and protect its natural texture and perfect appearance.

S. S. S. cures Eczema, Acne, Tetter, Salt Rheum, and all other skin eruptions or diseases. Book on Skin Diseases and any medical advice free.

REMOVING OFFICES OF EL PASO CO. TO DENVER

El Paso was easily the feature on the Mining Exchange yesterday, going up to $1.08 and closing at that figure. The stock reached the dollar mark Wednesday.
The work of removing the El Paso Consolidated Gold Mining company's offices from Colorado Springs to Denver is now under way. In connection with the transfer, President Burris said yesterday he regretted to leave Colorado Springs, but believed the change to be to the best interests of the mining industry and the company. The new offices probably will be in the Equitable building in Denver, although this has not been definitely decided.

Passing Tourists Are Witnesses of Wedding

Edward B. Good of Goldfield, Colo., and Miss Alice Gregory of Argo, Colo., chose Colorado's thirty-sixth anniversary for their wedding day, and were married here Thursday evening by Justice W. H. Gowdy.
County offices were closed that day, but Good arranged for a deputy in the county clerk's office to issue the license, and then persuaded Justice Gowdy to go to his office to perform the ceremony.
Arriving at the office, Gowdy asked where the witnesses were, but Good said he was a stranger here and knew no one. Justice Gowdy left his office for a moment and returned with Mr. and Mrs. Kidd, tourists from Kansas City, Mo., to whom he explained the circumstances, and who volunteered to witness the ceremony.

TO MACADAMIZE STRIP

The 100-foot strip of street on West Huerfano, between the western end of the asphalt paving and the eastern approach of the viaduct, will be paved with macadam, according to city officials. Owing to the grade at this point it has been found almost impossible to keep the stretch of road smooth, and it is to be macadamized at an early date.
It was given out yesterday the street pavers will finish their work by Monday night, if no more interruptions occur. From here the contractors will go to New York.

NOTICE TO WOMEN

All women of the city who are for P. B. Stewart for governor are asked to join the "White Brigade" for Stewart and clean politics, and meet at the Y. M. C. MERCHANTS OPPOSED TO THE ITINERANT VENDOR

Matters of interest to the retail merchants of the city were discussed and acted upon at a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce. Chief among the subjects discussed was that of the itinerant merchant, and steps were taken for definite action to protect the home merchant against the transient. The Chamber of Commerce will cooperate actively with the city and county officials in an effort to eliminate this evil, and a standing committee was appointed at last night's meeting for that purpose.

This committee, which consists of L. J. Felts, H. C. Chapman, D. J. Pinkelstein, T. C. Kirkwood and B. G. Robbins, already has done some work in a preliminary way, and reported progress in certain directions last night.
Other matters of interest were given consideration. It is the plan to hold monthly meetings of the retail merchants of the city.
The next meeting was preceded by the Colorado travelogue by Carl Balcomb. It was illustrated with a set of beautifully colored views illustrating the scenic points of interest of the Pikes Peak region and of Colorado, and was highly interesting.
L. J. Felts presided as chairman of last night's meeting.

MAN KILLED; STEALING RIDE ON FREIGHT TRAIN

In jumping on a Denver & Rio Grande freight train near the Bijou street viaduct about noon yesterday, George Peterson, 33 years old, lost his footing and fell under the wheels. He was killed almost instantly. The body was taken to the morgue and the man's parents, who live in Denver, will be here tomorrow to claim it. There will be no inquest.
Peterson worked in Pueblo for the last two years, and came to Colorado Springs a few days ago seeking employment. He was unable to find anything to do, and yesterday boarded a freight train with the intention, it is supposed, of going to Denver.

COLORADO G. O. P. CLUBS OF SPRINGS MAY MERGE

With a view to uniting the four colored Republican clubs of the city under one head and making them of more effect during the political campaign, a mass meeting of the colored Republican voters of the city was held at the court house last night. The matter had been taken up with the officers of the clubs before it was brought up at the meeting, and their consent to the move had been obtained.
William H. Bell, an ardent supporter of Philip B. Stewart, presided over the meeting, which was well attended. The matter of the common organization was considered, and a set of resolutions, drawn up with the cooperation of the officers of the four clubs, was proposed. In view of the fact, however, that the officers who had proposed the meeting could not be present, Bell recommended that no action be taken out of respect to them. The mass meeting did nothing more, therefore, than to approve the resolutions as presented.
These resolutions, which are as follows, are said to express the will of the officers of every club now existing among the colored citizens of the city:
Whereas, The colored voters of Colorado Springs have a full realization of the necessity for thorough and harmonious organization during the present campaign; and
Whereas, We believe that it is the duty of the voters of our race to study thoroughly the conditions upon which the various political campaigns are predicated, so that we may have full and complete knowledge to assist us in casting our ballots intelligently for the causes which represent our interests; and
Whereas, We also appreciate the fact that certain candidates will be cleaner and more agreeable, and better fitted for executive, legislative and county offices than others; that it is our duty as American citizens to avoid strict partisanship where character, honesty and uprightness of purpose are involved; therefore, Be it resolved, That we, as representatives of the colored people of Colorado Springs hereby organize for the purpose of conducting a campaign of education which will better fit us to cast our ballots at the coming election, and the purpose of promoting harmony among the members of our race along the lines indicated.

DR. COWLES WILL GIVE TWO LECTURES TOMORROW

Dr. G. W. Cowles of Australia is scheduled to deliver two addresses tomorrow. At 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon he will speak at the men's meeting at the Y. M. C. A. on "How to Slay Lions on a Snowy Day," and at 8 o'clock in the evening he will lecture in the Second Presbyterian church on "From Cannibalism to Christianity." This lecture is to be given at the request of the church.
Monday evening, August 12, at 8 o'clock, Dr. Cowles will give his farewell lecture in the Y. M. C. A. his subject being "Personal Experiences in the Holy Land." He lived for a considerable time in Palestine, and his talk will deal largely with social and religious conditions there.
The secretary of the Horticultural society is at his room in the court house every day.

ELABORATE PREPARATIONS FOR BIG K. C. CONVENTION

In preparation for the supreme council of the Knights of Columbus, which will meet in this city next week, the laws committee of the council met at the Antlers hotel last night, and drew up a report which will be presented at the gathering. Chairman Joseph Pelletier, district attorney at Boston, Mass., presided over the meeting.
A few of the delegates to the council are in the city already, and more will arrive in the next few days. In all, there are about 200 delegates. They will bring their families with them, which means at least 1,000 visitors to the city from this gathering alone. The order, which they represent, embraces some 250,000 members. Headquarters for the registration of the delegates will be opened today on the ground floor of the Burns building, and the Chamber of Commerce, in which the meetings of the supreme council will be held, have been decorated with American flags and with the colors of the Knights of Columbus. The registration rooms, also, are decorated. A great deal of street decoration has already been done, the most prominent part being the big electric sign at the Antlers hotel, bearing the words, "Welcome, K. of C." The Chamber of Commerce is still anxious, however, that more decorating be done, and urges that every business house display an American flag.
One of the important matters which will come up next week, when the supreme council meets, is the question of establishing a home to care for the tubercular members of the order. No definite action may be taken, but the home, if decided upon, probably will be built as an addition to some big sanatorium. This plan appears best to those members of the order who have already looked into the matter.
For the entertainment of the visitors the Colorado Springs and Interurban Railway company has offered to give a band concert and day fireworks exhibition at Stratton park any afternoon during the week. If given, this entertainment probably will be scheduled for Thursday.
NOW IS THE TIME to save money and have your rooms papered for $4.00, paper and labor.
The Hedrick Wall Paper and Paint Co., 212 N. Tejon.

DEMONSTRATING NEW AUTOMATIC FIRE ALARM

J. M. Johnson of Kansas City, Mo., the inventor, and Edward J. McCabe of this city, are exhibiting in front of the Gough hotel building on South Nevada avenue a working model of a new automatic fire alarm system. It is proposed to organize the Colorado-Utah Automatic Fire Alarm and Telegraph company, with main offices here.

Johnson and McCabe spent yesterday evening explaining the system and explaining its working to interested visitors. Johnson has devoted the last three years to perfecting his patent, and declares it the best yet devised. He says he is prepared to show by actual tests that it is impossible to burn a hole in a building equipped with the system without giving an alarm.

The system consists of wired mercury thermostats placed on the ceiling, 12 feet apart. They are so wired that a temperature of 140 degrees forms a circuit and sounds the alarm at the central switch board. A clock, owned by the company, sends in on the same circuit the exact location of the building in which the fire occurs. An indicator outside the building shows on which floor the fire is burning, so that no time is wasted in locating the point of the blaze.

Johnson says his invention will result in a material reduction of fire insurance rates, and declares it impossible to tamper with it or put it out of commission without this being known at the switchboard. If a wire is cut or disconnected, if the mercury is removed from the thermostats, or if the Morse clock is interfered with, a sharp circuit will result and be known immediately.

THE TARIFF BOARD'S REPORT ON WOOL AND WOOLENS

SCHEDULE K of the Payne-Aldrich tariff law has been the object of more extreme denunciation than any other section of that law. Miss Tarbell, Richard Washburn Child and numerous other magazine writers have marshalled facts that prove the rates levied to be unwarranted and unjust; such authors have demonstrated that present duties discriminate in favor of high grade wools as against the lower grades used by the great majority of consumers. Even President Taft was forced to admit that "Schedule K is indefensible."

In spite of all the evidence and testimony going to show the unjustifiable character of the tariff on wools and wooleens the president of the American Woolen Company still maintains that "Schedule K, much maligned, much misunderstood, if properly understood would be the most appreciated of any schedule in the tariff; and if all schedules in the tariff were as scientifically based and as well poised and balanced as Schedule K, it would be the most remarkable document, next to the Constitution of the United States that the human mind has ever produced." This is, indeed, fulsome praise.

TARIFF BOARD'S REPORT

The Tariff Board Report on Wool and Wooleens is intended to give a reliable basis for a revision of Schedule K. It contains a mass of valuable information filling four volumes, 1200 pages in all. An impartial critic, Professor Frank W. Taussig of Harvard University, has analyzed the report with care. He says in the current number of The American Economic Review, in regard to that portion of the report relating to the duty on wool:

"The report simply confirms the conclusion already reached by well-informed inquirers.

"For myself, everything I read in the report strengthens the conviction which I have long held and declared: that there is no good ground for maintaining a duty upon wool."

The strength of the wool duty lies not in economic reasoning but in the inevitable wish of every industry in every part of the country to get its share of what seem to be the benefits of protection. It is absurd for the wheat growers to protest against the abolition of a wheat duty which is of absolutely no consequence to them. But all the current talk about protection makes them think that they are losing their "share" in the benefits. Even more strongly the wool-growers feel that they are entitled to their "share" of the benefits of protection. Under such circumstances the investigation of the Tariff Board supplies ammunition for either party, but will not enable either to rout the other."

In regard to the tariff on manufactured wooleens Professor Taussig says that the legislator "will find abundant proof that the duties as they stand now are not fixed on the basis of differences in the cost of production with any approach to accuracy. But just what duties would conform to these differences, he will not find it easy to make out. It is established beyond question that the compensating system is completely out of gear. It is inevitable that suspicion should attach to the utterances of persons who have persistently contended that things were true which are now proven not to be true."

DIFFICULTIES ARE STILL UNSETTLED.

The whole report shows the difficulty of fixing duties on the basis of relative cost of production. Wool is a joint product with lamb and mutton, and these are often joint products of general farming. It is difficult to disentangle a separate cost of wool.

In the region of general farming, extending from the Missouri River eastward over almost the whole of the country, the Tariff Board figured that the cost of wool to the farmer was zero, as sheep could be raised profitably for the meat produced. This section of the country contains 20 per cent of the sheep raised in the United States.

in the western range region, containing 70 per cent of the sheep, the cost of wool is 11 cents, while in the Ohio region the cost is 19 cents. What cost of production should be, then, the basis for protective duties?

Western lands are being withdrawn from use as ranges and used for general farming purposes. The latter use is more profitable and also offers a more substantial basis for the development of the West. It would be unwise to restrict the development of general farming in this section by maintaining a large protective tariff on wool. "It is proved to the hilt that the possibility of extending the domestic supply, outside the region of general farming is negligible. Sheep-raising in large herds is certainly to become less rather than greater."

It is clear, then, from the report of the Tariff Board that there is no infant wool-producing industry to be encouraged by a tariff; there is no possibility of its development. The high tariff on wool merely operates to keep range lands out of general farming use. It would appear that such lands as cannot be used for farming might better be used for cattle than for sheep. A protective tariff on wool must be considered of doubtful value to the country even from the protective standpoint.

The Report on Wool and Wooleens gives much valuable data on the subject covered. However, it does not solve the question as to what the duties on wool and wooleens should be "to equal the difference in the cost of production between here and abroad." There are numerous costs of production here and just as many abroad.

The LaFollette bill to reduce the tariff on wool has passed the Senate; the House has refused to accept it as a substitute for the House measure. President Taft cannot now refuse to sign a measure reducing the tariff on wool for the reason that he gave last summer lack of information. On the other hand the present report does not give him a basis for telling whether the duties fixed by the LaFollette bill or any other bill are mathematically correct or not.

INDORSES GAZETTE'S CONSERVATION POLICY

To the Editor of The Gazette:
A copy of your editorial in The Gazette of Friday, the 26th instant, in which you quote a brief article from the "American Forestry" magazine, published at Washington, D. C., by the American Forestry association, has just fallen into my hands.

It is gratifying to note in your comment the optimism you entertain that the movement now on foot to get the forest reserve law repealed will not succeed and that the public domain, with all its natural resources (including the forest reserves) will not be turned over to the states that embrace any portion of the public lands. It would create great pleasure to share with you your hopefulness in the case, but I feel sure that if the matter could be brought clearly to the mind of every citizen in the state and a vote taken the indignators and promoters of the scheme would be carried off their feet in a whirlwind of public protest. Very few people know of the movement at all. Of those who may know something concerning it, few realize what it would mean to the state were the measure to succeed; if they did their protest would sweep the state like a consuming fire.

Then, too, few know what is going on in congress. How many are aware that already there is a bill before the house providing for the "Conveyance of the forest reserves to the states in which they are situated." If I were to go upon the street and ask 100 people what they knew about it more than 80 per cent would say they "never heard of it." Probably 90 per cent. Try it.

If every paper throughout the state were to stand as The Gazette stands today, as it stood in 1884, when the fight for the forests first began, and as it has stood for the 28 years that have intervened, this entire policy would be "deadlier than a dagger."

Appreciating your sincere and lifelong loyalty to the public good,
W. G. M. STONE,
President of the Colorado State Forestry Association,
Colorado Springs, August 2.

To the Editor of The Gazette:

If the Mountain States Telephone company, which enjoys a local monopoly, can furnish an extension phone for 50 cents in Denver, why do Colorado Springs patrons have to pay a dollar and more for it?

JOHN F. MCCONNELL

Colorado Springs, Aug. 2.

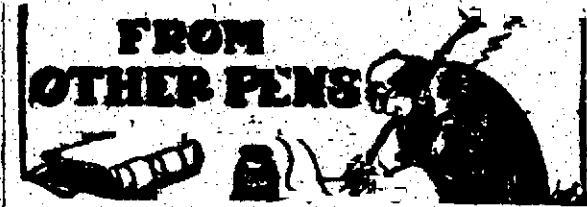

THE ESSENTIAL NEEDS.

An article in The Gazette of July 24, on the beauties of our city, prompts attention to some features of our city of more vital importance to both citizens and visitors than the satisfaction of sight. How can anyone explain the West Bluff viaduct bridge, adjoining our lauded paved streets, and the roads leading to Manitou, and this our most heavily traveled thoroughfare—repeatedly referred to as not being in its good condition as most streets of small country towns? Our streets, outside a small area, are in wretched order and arouse unfavorable comment, especially from visitors with autos. Our auto license fee is higher than most cities, and also in excess to tourists of other summer resorts as anyone who will investigate may learn. This fact was complained of bitterly last season by tourists, many stating their intention of patronizing other resorts and also of advising their friends to do so. Thus much as we have had by no means a good season. It would seem as though this was not an idle threat.

Are we to keep on extolling the artistic and shutting our eyes to the essential need of citizens and tourists like the tourist who acceded that a certain hotel had fine, luxurious beds but that he could not eat the beds?

R. E. FREEMAN.

Colorado Springs, Aug. 2.

THE LORIMER VERDICT.

The ousting of Lorimer was an affirmation, first, of the good quality of public opinion; second, of the effectiveness of public opinion.

Lorimer may be dismissed from further notice. He probably does not comprehend the force that struck him. It is immaterial whether he does or not. The service of the Colorado Tribune in making known the facts of Lorimer's election and first defeat is self-evident.

manding his dismissal is of real importance—illustrative of the aid a strong, fearless newspaper can be to clean politics and popular government.

But of greatest and lasting importance is the notice served by the people that they will not have their high offices tainted with dishonesty—either of fraud that is legal crime or of fraud that is unpunished moral iniquity.

HEALTH IN SUMMER.

From the Washington Star.
The point chiefly to be borne in mind by the people at this season of the year, when the thermometer climbs to a high point, is that most of the troubles arising from the temperature are caused by derangements of the digestive system. In almost every instance of physical distress incidental to summer heat there has been neglect of certain fundamental rules of health. The stomach has been treated with contempt. Ignoring the fact that the high temperature must be considered in the selection of foods, many people live indifferently, putting their alimentary organization to a severe test, eating more meat than should be taken, dousing the stomach with food drinks and strange concoctions supposedly quenchers of thirst, but actually causing, to that condition. Light diet and carefully chosen, and imbibed drinks are necessary. The stomach cannot stand as much hard work at this time of the year as it can in the winter, when the system demands foods that make heat for the body. It is especially sensitive to sudden inundations of icy water, alcoholic beverages and strange mixtures that are broadly classed as "summer drinks." The whole secret of keeping well in hot weather is summed up in two words, Go Easy. Dress lightly, eat lightly, drink lightly, think lightly, and in all actions remember the handicap that nature has put upon the system when the sun is at the highest point in the heavens.

A PROTEST THAT MAY COUNT.

From the Pittsburgh Dispatch.
Opposition to the proposed coinage of 3-cent pieces from an even more influential source than the street railway and telephone companies, who fear it may encourage agitation for 3-cent fares and 3-cent calls, is intimated in that protest from a church member who is alarmed lest the prominent new occupants take advantage of the coin to cut down their contributions to the plate two-fifths. Many of these who now grudgingly contribute a nickel on Sunday would be glad to only too glad to compromise with their conscience on a 3-cent piece.

Maintaining the fixed charges of church operation and maintenance, he argues, is sufficiently difficult now without this prospective reduction of contributions. Of course the idea that churchgoers would stoop to such economy will be sternly repelled by many members, but even they will admit that there are indifferent individuals in many flocks of whom just such a thing might be expected. If the church members of the country whose contributions support the organizations become convinced there is any such danger in the 3-cent piece as this protesting brother fears congress may expect a protest that must count against the insidious coin.

NEVER TAKE GOITER UNADVISED.

From "How to Keep Well" in the Chicago Tribune.
You are not justified in taking digitals except under medical direction. This is also true of goiter.

AN IMMORTAL GOES VISITING.

From the Wellington (N.Z.) News.
Mrs. S. A. D. Pigg of Wichita is the guest of friends in town.

WHILE THE HITTING IS GOOD.

Sign, Algona Hotel, Post City, Tex.
"The rate at this hotel is $2.50 a day. There are several good boarding houses in town and plenty of room in the mesquite. Four-flushers, kickers, and other suspicious characters, find board with the sheriff. When in doubt hit the mesquite."

Thought Selfishness

By RUTH CAMERON.

When we speak of selfishness, we are apt to think first of selfishness about material things, but the more I study human nature, the more I become convinced that this is the least common and the least harmful kind of selfishness. There are so many other kinds of selfishness that spoil more happiness than this variety. For instance, there is the selfishness of the person who is never amiable unless he holds the center of the stage; the selfishness of the person who is generous enough about material things, but inordinately greedy about having his own way; the selfishness of the person who allows a tendency, such as a habit of worrying, to spoil half the family happiness; and then there is thought-selfishness.

It was that last variety that started me philosophizing on this subject. By thought-selfishness, I mean the habit of being ungenerous with one's thoughts.

I know a man who has very interesting thoughts. He has a keen sense of humor, an unusual fund of information and a habit of observation. When he sees fit to talk—really talk, I mean, not just say the absolutely necessary things—he almost always has something interesting to say. But unless he is in a very gracious mood, he will sit stiffly and perfectly silent, ignoring the conversation and thinking his own interesting thoughts to himself.

Now I believe that that man is selfish when he does this. He owes the world the benefit of his intelligence, and he is just as stingy and miserly when he sits there hoarding his thoughts as the miser counting his gold.

This man is an exaggerated example of this type, but I know a great many men and women who are thought-selfish in one way or another. There is the man who eats his breakfast in stolid silence broken only by occasional requests for more food. His wife tries to draw him out but he is absorbed in his own thoughts. There are many things which he might say that would give her something to think about during the day, but he is simply too lazy to put his thoughts into words.

Then there is the son or daughter who comes home at night from an interesting day at school or work, with half a dozen things in his or her mind that would interest or divert the house-bound mother, and yet does not take the trouble to tell them to her.

The man who does not credit other people with a sense of humor, and so smiles to himself when anything amuses him, is another member of this species. No one has a right to keep anything cleanly amusing to himself. Just as one poor old earth must borrow its sunlight, you know. If you have any to lend, do not lend miserly with it.

The man who reads the morning paper and does not pass on the bits of news that he thinks would be interesting to his family, certainly is thought-selfish, and also the person who gets a letter and does not communicate those parts of it which are communicable and of general interest.

Uncommunicative people are often praised and admired. To be sure, the person who chatters continually about nothing is a bore; but the person who has something to say about things and doesn't say it is a bore also. It is our duty to make them that he is selfish. Don't you think so?

"OUR COUNTRY

GOD'S COUNTRY"

The above is the motto adopted by a nation-wide movement soon to be initiated, looking to the evangelization of our home land.

This is a big enterprise, but it has some big organizations behind it. These are the Home Missions council, representing 27 general boards engaged in national home mission work, and the Council of Women for Home Missions, representing nine women's boards engaged in national home mission work. "Home Mission Week," November 17-24, 1912, is an attempt to impress upon every man and woman of every church of every evangelical denomination in this country the supreme importance of saving America for the kingdom of God through the established agencies of the church.

It is planned that during Home Mission week America's moral and religious needs be presented in and by every church in every community on every day of the week from November 17 to 24, inclusive, through specially prepared literature and programs which will be adapted to every constituency of our great denominations.

"During the three months' period preliminary to Home Mission week material for educational and inspirational use will be supplied to the religious press and to the denominational missionary magazines. A carefully thought out and extensive series of advertisements in religious papers and such other publications as are deemed wise will be employed, calling attention to Home Mission week and its significance, and to the great facts which demand home mission effort. Classes will be organized in the churches during the preliminary period for the study of outstanding American social and religious problems.

It is proposed that on the opening Sunday of the week the pastors of the various churches will present home missions in a thorough and inspiring manner, and the following five days will be devoted to conferences, women's missionary meetings, and church meetings dealing with the largest problems confronting us in home mission work, a uniform program being adopted. Saturday is set apart as a day of prayer and fellowship, and it is expected that the second Sunday, being the preliminary period for the study of outstanding American social and religious problems, will emphasize the unity of the work and give inspiration for renewed and increased service.

A committee is being organized in Colorado Springs to plan for Home Mission week and to conduct the preliminary three months' campaign.

JOHN Y. EWART,
Pastor Second Presbyterian Church.

The fishing in Ute Pass was reported to be very good a few miles above Manitou.

Billy Bryan, a Manitou hotel man, was thinking of putting up a billiard hall and bowling alley in the Garden of the Gods.

Many of the back yards and alleys in the city were said to be in a filthy condition, and The Gazette urged the board of health to take the matter up and see that they were cleaned.

Growth of Industrial Trusts Under Protection

By JOHN MOODY

Prior to the entry of the Republican party into power in 1887, there were few industrial trusts in the United States. The Sugar trust, the Standard Oil trust, and the so-called Whisky trust were the only ones of very large capital which were in the public eye. But immediately upon the enactment of the Dingley tariff law, trusts began to increase and multiply, and at the end of a few years the number of separate plants which had been absorbed into great combinations ran into the thousands. At the same time the capitalization created by these combinations rose by leaps and bounds. At the beginning of 1888 there were in all, only 38 real industrial trusts in the United States, representing a combination of 672 plants, and carrying a total capitalization of but $1,419,428,500.

But within two years from the opening of 1889—that is, at the close of 1890—the number of trusts had more than doubled, and the capital represented had increased to $3,027,910,581. The following three years, however, proved to be the halcyon period of industrial trust formation. Between the opening of 1890 and the close of 1902, the trust-forming movement expanded to an extraordinary extent. It was in this period that the various independent steel industries of the country were converted into nearly a dozen mammoth trusts, and, finally, absorbed, en masse, into the great United States Steel corporation, with its capital of $1,500,000,000. During the same period the Woolen trust was formed, and the Tobacco trust was enlarged from a pillar combination, covering only one or two branches of the industry, to a vast consolidation covering complete production and distribution. At the close of 1902, therefore, trust capitalization had leaped to $5,723,741,660, represented by 186 industrial trusts, which embraced no less than 3,264 plants.

At the end of 1902 there was a widely held theory that the trust movement had reached its limit. Subsequent events, however, have proven the unsoundness of this idea. For steadily, throughout every year of the past decade, trust capitalization has continued to increase. By the end of 1905, the year in which Theodore Roosevelt began his second administration, the figure had risen to $6,843,891,760, and in the year when Mr. Taft entered the White House, a further expansion to $7,550,004,000 was shown. And now, with Mr. Taft closing his term, we note that, notwithstanding the so-called trust prosecutions and the enforcement of the Sherman law, the total industrial trust capitalization has reached the astounding total of $8,066,200,551.

This movement does not include industrial combinations which are not trusts. There are thousands of manufacturing concerns enjoying the benefits of the tariff which cannot be included, strictly speaking, in any list of trusts. The government's federal corporation tax report for 1905 shows that the total capitalization represented by industrial concerns was about $26,000,000,000. This includes the many close corporations, concerns of small capital which, while "industrial" are not trusts in the ordinary understanding of the term.

It will be noted that the growth of trusts during Mr. Taft's administration has practically all been accomplished since the enactment of the present Payne tariff law. It is a noteworthy fact that the capital represented by industrial trusts in this country does not reflect, except to partial extent, the investment of money or property. While no exact figures on the subject are obtainable, it is reliably estimated that not more than 25 per cent of the $8,066,000,000 of capitalization represents original investment. The remaining 75 per cent is what is commonly called "water," but which is more definitely described as the "capitalization of earning power." For industrial trusts, like franchise trust railroad trusts, etc., have all adopted this method during the past generation of capitalizing, not only the original and current investment in the plants and property, but also the net profits which can be shown. Thus it is apparent that in the case of these trusts which have been built up chiefly on tariff benefits, a large part of the net profits shown, and in some cases two-thirds or three-fourths of the profits, are the direct result of the protective legislation which they have received.

Industrial combinations, in the great majority of cases, have been formed primarily for the purpose of controlling or advancing prices to the consumer. While the theory has been persistently urged for many years that the main purpose of combination was to reduce producing and operating costs, and thus increase profits without the advancement of prices, yet the records show, during the entire trust era, to prove that such has not been the case. The great enlargement in profits has for the most part been accomplished by price advances, and not by cost curtailment.

Never in our history, perhaps (except in war periods) has the price level risen faster than it rose during the first few years after the passage of the Dingley tariff act, in 1897, and during the period when trusts were forming most rapidly. From July 1, 1897, to January 1, 1900, the cost of living advanced 31 per cent. From July 1, 1897, to May 1, 1902, the cost of living advanced 41 per cent. That the trusts were largely responsible for this great advance is clear from the fact that from July 1, 1897, to January 1, 1900, the prices of foodstuffs (in which there are but few trusts) advanced but 25 per cent, while the prices of metals, clothing, and miscellaneous products (in which there are most trusts) advanced 37 per cent. Notable advances occurred in steel trust productions, some of which more than doubled within one or two years.

If this process had not taken place, the Steel trust today would doubtless be able to show substantial profits on its original and current investment, but no profit whatever on its "water."

Balcomb Lectures at Stratton Park Tonight

Although Carl Balcomb is one of the youngest lecturers on the American platform today, his lectures at Stratton park Saturday and Sunday evenings are attracting a great deal of attention and favorable comment. Mr. Balcomb is well posted on his subject, "The Rocky Mountains of Colorado," having always lived in this state and for the past four years having made extensive trips into the mountains, gathering material and pictures for his lectures. Not only is his collection of pictures said to be the finest set of Colorado mountain pictures and very artistically colored, but his lecture is well delivered and interesting. The lecture shows nearly every scenic spot in the state, and is a real education, not only to the stranger but to the resident as well.

The lectures are given in connection with the moving picture entertainments in the pavilion at Stratton park, and are free to the public, tourists and visitors being especially invited. The moving pictures for tonight and Sunday night are a good comedy and a two-reel feature film, "The Power Behind the Throne," with Marion Holland in the leading part.

MOTHER DROPS ACTION AFTER GIRL'S WEDDING

Lee Purnell Bishop and Nellie Marie Welch of Goldfield, Colo., were married yesterday by Justice O. R. Dunnington, and shortly afterward they were arrested by the police. Their detention at city hall was brief, however, for a message was sent from Mrs. Jerry Jones, the bride's mother, asking the young couple to take their next train home.

Bishop and Miss Welch came to Colorado Springs Thursday, and Mrs. Jones at once sought to have the man arrested on a charge of abduction, as Miss Welch is said to be less than 18 years of age. The marriage yesterday, however, cleared the situation, and the bride's mother has dropped the action against Bishop.
